

B¹
= 1,2,...) including a structure obtained by overlaying on a first layer of lower Al component content a second layer of higher Al component content, in which step the first layer is epitaxially grown first and the second layer is then epitaxially grown on the first layer at slower epitaxial growth rate than that used to epitaxially grow the first layer.--
